Quality
Our drive
Our promise

MarFlex stands for quality.
Quality that goes further than just the installation of our deepwell pump system on board your vessel. MarFlex deepwell pump systems continue to show their real quality during use.

It is essential that your crew knows how the MarFlex deepwell pump system works to ensure that the cargo is monitored and discharged successfully. Therefore, MarFlex offers to effectively train your crew.

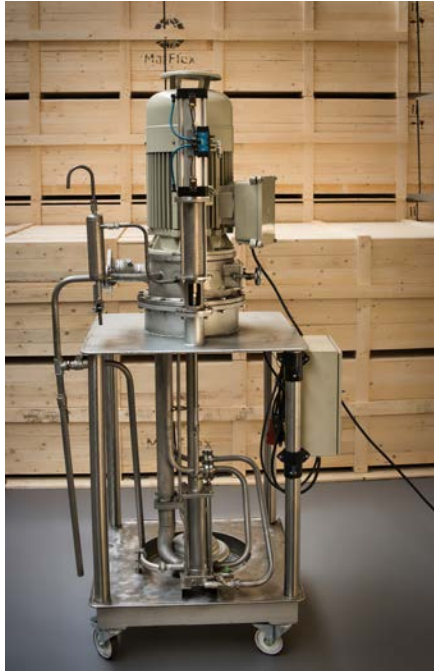

We provide training courses in our head office in the Netherlands, or at one of our training locations in Mumbai, Karjat or Rotterdam. Here we have created classrooms where your crew can practice with the MarFlex deepwell pump system.

We can also offer training for your crew on site; in your office or on board. We will tailor the training to the needs of your crew. Allowing your crew to be trained effectively, also on site.

Ship

We develop the training course together with you. In addition to following the standard theoretical and/or practical training, we can tailor the training to the system on board your vessel.

It is important that your crew becomes familiar with the MarFlex deepwell pump system. Therefore, we offer attractive prices. Your Area Service coordinator will be pleased to explain more.

A two-day MarFlex Training including practice, is as follows:

Day 1

Theoretical day, Introduction to the MarFlex deepwell pump system

- Construction of the pipe stack and top cover
- Removing the pump head
- Purging
- Discharging
- Stripping
- Portable pumps and power pack
- Ballast pumping system
- Converter system

Day 2

Practical day

- Removing pumphead
- Lubrication oil sampling/ changing
- Pumping system maintenance schedule
- Converter system

A one day training is also possible, this can be either a full theoretical day or a full practical day.

It is also possible to choose different modules to compose your own training best suited for your crew.
